Introduction

Investing in the economic success of girls is a proven strategy to advance gender and racial equity in Minnesota. Why? Because when girls thrive, families and communities thrive. In 2002, the Women's Foundation of Minnesota (WFMN) launched the girlsBEST (girls Building Economic Success Together) fund to support programs that work to ensure the future economic opportunity of girls across Minnesota. Economic opportunity is the underpinning for girls’ equity; it increases their safety, improves their health outcomes; and impacts their access to leadership opportunities.

Since launching the girlsBEST program, the Women’s Foundation of Minnesota has convened, elevated, and invested in five cohorts of statewide grantee-partners through multi-year funding. Since 2002, girlsBEST has impacted the economic success and leadership development of 44,000 low-income girls across the state. girlsBEST has proven to be an effective model for impact: 94 percent of girlsBEST participants graduate from high school, 90 percent enroll in post-secondary education, and the teen pregnancy rate is four per 1,000 girls in Minnesota.

We invite Minnesota organizations and groups with girl-driven programs to apply to join the sixth cohort of girlsBEST partners who receive multi-year grants. Funded programs enhance economic opportunity for girls ages 12 through 18 by applying the girlsBEST Program Framework (see page 3). The girlsBEST program engages low-income girls with an emphasis on girls of color, American Indian girls, and girls in Greater/Rural Minnesota, LGBTQ+ youth, and girls with disabilities. Our definition of girls includes any young person that identifies as a girl; all WFMN programs are inclusive of transgender, gender nonconforming, and gender nonbinary people who experience gender-based structural harm. Grants will be awarded for up to three years of funding, renewable each year based on evidence of satisfactory progress toward goals and outcomes.

GirlsBEST Program Framework

A. girlsBEST Program Outcome
Grants awarded through the girlsBEST program support girl-led programs that are designed to achieve the following outcome: Individual girls ages 12 to 18 will increase readiness to achieve economic well-being.

B. Stages of Girls’ Economic Development
Achieving the outcome of girls’ increased readiness to achieve economic well-being takes time. As they grow, girls ages 12 through 18 change their attitudes and develop skills as a result of their participation in girlsBEST programs. Our evaluation has identified three stages of girls’ readiness for economic well-being:

1. STAGE ONE | Awareness: Girls become increasingly aware of the ways in which women are treated unequally in our society due to racist and sexist practices that are embedded in institutions and policies, which in turn affects their economic potential.

2. STAGE TWO | Agency: Girls become aware that they can become agents of change and build power within and with each other in their girlsBEST programs through leadership and participation in program activities.

3. STAGE THREE | Activism & Advocacy: Girls become aware that they can take action, individually and collectively, to advance gender and racial equity and impact systems and institutions.
C. girlsBEST Program Tracks

The girlsBEST fund supports programs in four program tracks. Applicants will choose one program track that best describes their work with girls:

1. Academic Programs:
   - Programs that help girls stay in school and pursue college and future career goals.
   - Programs that build girls’ financial and economic capacity.
   - School-based programs that help girls excel in math, science, technology, and other subjects in which girls have been underrepresented or excluded.

2. Entrepreneurial Programs:
   - Programs that teach and support girls in business planning and development.

3. Employment Development and High-Paying/High-Skill Careers:
   - Programs that build girls’ employment skills and/or encourage them to seek high-paying and high-skill careers.

4. Public Education and Advocacy Programs:
   - Programs in which girls organize on issues that impact their economic success, such as access to reproductive and family planning, sexual health, and ending violence.

D. girlsBEST Notable Practices

Evaluation shows that girlsBEST programs that are successful in developing the economic potential of girls share some notable practices:

1. Financial Literacy. Successful programs offer a variety of financial literacy curricula to help girls learn how to manage and save money. In these programs, girls might learn how to apply for financial aid for post-secondary institutions, gain skills in running and managing a small business, or expand their knowledge of high-wage and nontraditional jobs and careers.

2. Leadership Development. Girls are involved in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of girlsBEST programs. Programs build girls’ leadership by allowing girls to design and implement program strategies and take activist roles in the community.

3. Mentoring. Building supportive environments where girls can engage with mentors who reflect and represent their identities leads to increased readiness of girls to achieve economic well-being. Mentoring helps build girls’ confidence and economic readiness.

4. Build on Cultural Strengths. Projects that focus on helping girls build self-esteem within their cultural traditions, community identities, and strengths, where appropriate, have been found to enhance girls’ leadership skills and self-confidence.

5. Collaboration. Building collaborative relationships in communities, with schools, faith organizations, nonprofits, and community agencies, builds the status of girls and strengthens girls’ programs and economic readiness in communities throughout Minnesota.

6. Multigenerational Approach. Programs that offer parallel or complementary opportunities for mothers, grandmothers, aunts, and families of girlsBEST participants tend to increase the readiness of girls to achieve economic well-being.
7. Healing and Wellness. Programs that incorporate healing, including cultural practices of healing, into their work promotes physical, spiritual, mental, and emotional well-being.

Collecting the demographics of individuals and communities impacted is an essential aspect of the Women’s Foundation of Minnesota’s commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Completing the demographic survey is critical to the success of your grant application. Demographic information helps WFMN evaluate proposals by understanding the communities served by organizations and the ways programming is responsive to community-specific needs.
